

Contents

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Acknowledgments.....  | ix  |
| Introduction: Ushering in the Spectacle.....                                      | 1   |
| I. The Mirror Stage: Thérèse Raquin .....                                  | 11  |
| II. The Return of the Repressed: Ghosts .....                              | 15  |
| III. The Nature of the Beast: The Power of Darkness .....                  | 19  |
| IV. The Dialectic of the Master and the Slave: Miss Julie .....            | 23  |
| V. The War Between the Classes: The Weavers .....                          | 27  |
| VI. In the Country of the Blind: The Lower Depths .....                    | 33  |
| VII. A Living Like Any Other: Mrs. Warren’s Profession .....               | 45  |
| VIII. A Naturalist Symbolism: Riders to the Sea .....                      | 51  |
| IX. Living History: Chicken Soup With Barley .....                         | 63  |
| X. Living Theatre: The Brig .....  | 75  |
| XI. “Like a Neutron Bomb of the Mind”: A Digression on Stiegler .....             | 85  |
| XII. On the Side of the Object: The Contractor, Changing Room .....        | 91  |
| Appendix  |     |
| 1: Rewriting Naturalism, Zola’s L’Assommoir and Reade’s Drink ..... | 103 |
| 2. Awakenings: En Famille, La Casserole, Little Bugger (Métenier) ..       | 105 |
| Notes.....  | 107 |
| Bibliography .....  | 127 |
| Index.....  | 133 |